Lais de Jesus Moraes

Passionate about using technology to solve problems, I am a veterinarian with a desire to transition into the tech industry. Upon arriving in the UK, I saw it as the perfect opportunity to pursue my tech career and joined La Fosse Academy to enhance my skills and explore various technologies. Now focused on a tech-oriented path, I find joy in breaking down complex problems and creating innovative solutions. Outside of work, I enjoy playing video games and watching series, which not only provide relaxation but also inspire my technological pursuits. With my passion, problem-solving mindset, and diverse background, I am ready to make a meaningful impact in the tech world.

Summary

As a Veterinarian Surgeon with about 10 years of experience and currently undertaking training at La Fosse Academy, I have honed my skills in multitasking, resiliency, problem-solving, attention to detail, and exceptional customer service. My Master's degree in Veterinary Sciences has equipped me with expertise in research, analytical thinking, critical problem-solving, time management, and strategic planning. With this strong foundation, I am now driven to apply my unique perspective and problem-solving abilities to the tech industry.
